TRAININGS IN OKLAHOMA

Norman Peace Team (NPT)

The Norman Peace Team (NPT) works to foster safe, respectful, and peaceful interactions within the community. They emphasize education, training, conflict de-escalation, and providing an in-person, nonviolent presence where intimidation and fear might otherwise exist. NPT provides active bystander intervention and nonviolent communication trainings that help elected leaders and community organizations ensure the community remains safe for respectful civic engagement without violent escalation.

Vision Change Win

Vision Change Win is a Black-led, queer and trans group of social justice professionals who provide consulting and program offerings for groups committed to movements for liberation. They offer a Community Safety Training series, which is a three-part workshop focused on introducing verbal de-escalation, direct action, event safety protocols, and the basics of organizational safety. These fundamentals of community safety are taught from an abolitionist and anti-oppression framework focusing on how we keep ourselves and our communities safe without relying upon the state. Individuals or groups committed to these values are welcomed to register for trainings, offered every month on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th Wednesdays on Zoom; scholarships are available.

WHO SHOULD USE THIS RESOURCE?

De-escalation and bystander intervention resources are intended to support efforts at the local level to prevent and mitigate potential violence, harassment, and abuse.

Local officials such as city council members, school board members, election officials, and poll workers may want to consider utilizing de-escalation and bystander intervention tools to prepare for potentially contentious public meetings and election administration.

See BDI's de-escalation guides for local officials and poll workers.

Volunteers and community members, who are planning to attend potentially contentious meetings may use these resources to prepare and strategize and techniques to recognize and de-escalate conflict.

See DC Peace Team's de-escalation and bystander intervention guide. DC Peace Team is a nonprofit that empowers ordinary civilians to become nonviolent agents of sustainable peace and justice.

If your organization offers trainings like these, please reach out to bdi@princeton.edu to be added to the directory.

WHAT CAN CONFLICT DE-ESCALATION LOOK LIKE?

Anyone (active bystander) can de-escalate tensions or harmful behavior by drawing on the CLARA method. However, before engaging in de-escalation, it is important to assess the situation, including your safety and others. Conflict de-escalation is not a technique that is appropriate for all circumstances.

C alm and Center Yourself: Check in with yourself, appear calm, centered, and self-assured even if you don't feel it. Avoid pointing, crossing your arms, or other more aggressive postures.

L isten: Let the person vent and be sure to listen explicitly for feelings, needs, or values.

A cknowledge: Begin by acknowledging the feelings, needs, or values you have heard. [Not about agreeing with their position, statement, or behavior.] ex. "I sense your aggravation at this situation. I hear your concern for safety.

R espond: After acknowledgment, if there is a further threat of harassment or violence, offer open-ended or choice questions; address the issue; make a clear request or proposal. ex. "Will you tell me more about your concerns? "I understand you have every right to feel angry but it is not ok to threaten people here."

A ssess: Trust your instincts: If de-escalation is not working, STOP & GET HELP.
